And so for one last, lingering rap at the Central Valley water project. We have sought, during the past weeks, to point out the numerous pitfalls in this scheme which misguided enthusiasts seek to shove down the sore throats of California voters. Our attendant study of the measure has thoroughly convinced us that the plan is an economic flummery of the first water.

California is asked to assume a new debt of $170,000,000 for the professed purpose of bringing water to some 200,000 acres of parched land in the southern San Joaquin valley and making additional irrigation supplies available to the farmers of the Sacramento valley.

If this were the true purpose of the project, such a great expenditure would have to be justified by the financial gains which would accrue to the agriculturists and to business generally. No such justification can be found.

California today is suffering from overproduction, especially of those crops grown intensively under irrigation. The farmer who has a plentiful supply of water, good land, and the most favorable conditions, cannot make a living wage from the prices paid him for his produce. Because the market could not absorb all the state produced, some 835,000 acres were taken out of cultivation in 1931 and the process of contracting the total of crop lands has been proceeding ever since.

The national recovery administration is using heroic measures to restore the balance between supply and demand. It is paying farmers a bonus to plow under crops and to reduce the planting of new crops. None but the blind optimist expects these steps to be effective over night. It may be many years before the state's present excess of irrigable farm land can be profitably employed.

Under these conditions it is sheer business recklessness to invest $170,000,000 at this time to increase the amount of irrigated land or even to maintain in cultivation land which is gradually losing its water supply. This is count number one of the indictment against the Central Valley project.

A second count involves a similar defiance of economic conditions in the production of electric power.

Power houses proposed to be built at the Kennett and Friant dams are designed to generate 1.6 billion kilowatt hours of electric energy annually. This is nearly one-fifth of the total consumption of power within the state today. Of course the promoters have no assurance of being able to sell additional power. The power companies report that the demand for power has so diminished that today more than one-fourth of the productive capacity of existing plants within the state is unused. There is a market for less than 75 per cent of the electric energy which could be generated. The Pacific Gas and Electric company reports it has at this time ten or more plants standing idle.

And the present oversupply will be more than doubled in 1936 when 4.3 billions of kilowatt hours of power will begin flowing into southern California from Boulder dam under contracts already signed.

In the face of these facts, the promoters of the Central Valley project rely upon income from the sale of power to carry the larger part of the cost of Kennett dam and all other units of the far-flung

Local High School Board Abandons Building Scheme

The Campbell Union High school board of trustees several weeks ago sought to ascertain the attitude of district taxpayers on the proposition of making application to the federal government for a grant and a loan with which to erect a new high school plant.

Accordingly, letters of inquiry were sent to the various civic, social and fraternal organizations of the community with a view to getting the popular reaction. Quite a number of the replies revealed favorable attitudes, but there was evidently insufficient encouragement, for the board, in session Sunday afternoon, announced its intention to abandon the idea.

The following statement was issued to the Press at the close of the meeting:

"The board of trustees has, after due consideration, come to the conclusion that there does not exist sufficient sentiment among the taxpayers at this time to warrant further efforts to secure popular approval of a new high school plant."

The board's action writes finis to another chapter in the history of community effort to secure a new high school for the union district.

COMPLETE CAST OF "STRAY CATS" AT REHEARSALS NOW

"Stray Cats," three-act comedy by Leslie Carter, to be staged by the high school alumnae association for the benefit of the "Oriole" fund on Jan. 27, is enjoying practice with its full cast.

In addition to Jack Murdock, Willis Noethig and Harold Gardner, who were mentioned last week, there will be in the cast the Misses Mildred Cooke, Frances Reed, Idell Fulton and Vesta Cooper, and Mack Ross.

Mrs. Weyland Morgan, at one time a member of the Fresno community players, is directing the show, and T. A. Cutting is faculty advisor.

TAX LEAGUE FLAYS HIGH SCHOOL PLAN

At a meeting of the tax league at the grammar school here Friday evening a small group discussed local issues, particularly the proposed plans for financing a new high school.

Two members of the school board, Mrs. Louis Shelley and Joe Connor, were present, and attempted to clarify the atmosphere on the proposed plan. It is reported that they sought their seats in despair amid a barrage of personalities.

Family Reunion

A family reunion occurred Thanksgiving day when Mrs. A. J. Farley, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Farley and family, and her daughter, Miss May Farley, visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohr of Santa Cruz. Another daughter, Mrs. Andreas Larson of Berkeley, was also present with her husband.

Funeral for Mathias Hedegard In San Jose Tomorrow

Death Tuesday morning claimed Mathias Hedegard, 63, who for some time had been a patient at the San Jose hospital. He was the son of the late Ole S. and Johanne Hedegard of Jetsmark Sagu, Denmark, and the brother of the late Lars Hedegard. Surviving are two brothers, S. N. and C. S. Hedegard, both of Campbell, and three sisters, Mrs. Andrea Wilson of Campbell, Mrs. Nicoline Nielsen and Miss Sine Hedegard of Denmark.

Mathias Hedegard, who never married, came to this country at the age of 17. He settled at Brayton, Iowa, where he engaged in general farming. Later, he moved to Danville, Wash., and from there he went to Dayton, Tex., where he engaged in rice farming.

Coming to California in 1920, he farmed in Colusa and Yolo counties for four years, moving to Latimer avenue, Campbell, in 1924, where he raised fruit. He sold his ranch in 1928 and retired from active work, living for a time with his brother, C. S. Hedegard of Saratoga avenue. Three years ago Mr. Hedegard went back to Texas, returning in August, 1932, to live at the home of his brother, S. N. Hedegard.

He was a member of the Dania lodge in San Jose.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the parlors of Curry and Grippenstrow. Interment will be made at Oak Hill cemetery.

NORMAN HUSTED SEVERELY HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Norman Husted, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Husted, Hamilton and Johnson avenues, is in the San Jose hospital suffering with a badly broken leg, sustained Thanksgiving morning about 10 o'clock when the car in which he was riding with his sister left the road and crashed first into a walnut tree and then into a power pole.

Miss Barbara Husted, driver of the car, also sustained painful injuries to her knees and nose. The accident occurred on the San Jose-Los Gatos road about a mile this side of the county hospital.

Traffic Officer Karl Bohnett, who investigated the accident, said that the lad was attempting to stop up a crack in the floor-boards of the car, and that his sister momentarily took her eyes from the road to superintend the job, just long enough for the car to swerve off the road.

Both young people were given emergency treatment at the county hospital.

Student Hop

There will be a high school student body dance at the annex Friday night, Dec. 8. Music will be furnished by the high school dance orchestra.

Guests of Abbots

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Abbott last week were Mrs. Abbott's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Starrett and two children of Lemoor.

MRS. W. THOMAS HOSTESS, PUNDITA CIRCLE THIS AFT.

The Pundita circle met this afternoon at the attractive home of Mrs. Wendell Thomas on The Alameda. Decorations included beautiful fall flowers tastefully arranged. Co-hostesses were Mrs. L. J. Carboni and Miss Mary Candee.

A brief business meeting was followed by a program, the subject of which was "Music." Mrs. Carboni skillfully discussed the opera, dwelling at length upon Faust. Excerpts from various celebrated operas were brought forcibly to mind by Miss Katherine Wood who, at the piano, played the bits as they were mentioned by Mrs. Carboni. Recordings of some of the more famous operatic stars were enjoyed.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the three hostesses.

Miss Wood, who was to have been a co-hostess, was unable to participate in that capacity, as her music work now occupies all of her time. She has become an honorary member of the group, which excuses her from the usual obligations.

Yuletide Program Features Woman's Club Meet Monday

The Christmas season was ushered in for the members of the Country Woman's club Monday with a delightful entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Ira Abbott, Mrs. W. Calvin Bohnett, and Mrs. Emily P. Brandenburg.

The opening number was a piano solo, a Grieg composition played by Emily Bohnett. The remainder of the program was embodied in a children's play, "The Old Toys," very cleverly enacted by a group of children, several of whose mothers are club members.

The part of the little girl of the story, Sylvia, who opened the scene with a toe dance, before retiring on Christmas Eve, was taken by Lois Bohnett. Other characters were: The Old Toys, Arabella, a doll, Emily Bohnett; Bunny Rabbit, Margaret Tanner; Yum Yum, a Japanese doll, Geraldine Lloyd. The New Toys: Columbine, Jeanette Abbott; Pierrot, Jewel Abbott. Father Christmas, Phyllis Best; Christmas angel, Peace, Elaine Jeffers.

During the development of the play characteristic dances were given by Yum Yum, Bunny Rabbit, Columbine and Pierrot. Arabella recited a bit of dainty verse, Father Christmas performed his appointed duty and the lovely little angel exemplified her name.

The following members of the cast formed an orchestra, playing two selections: violins, Margaret Tanner and Jewel Abbott; cellos, Lois Bohnett and Jeanette Abbott; piano, Emily Bohnett. Just before the close the entire ensemble sang "Silent Night."

The program committee surprised members by serving tea and cookies, the young actors making equally successful waitresses.

A holiday atmosphere was introduced by the use of catenasters, red button chrysanthemums, and Christmas candles.

During the business meeting announcement was made of the county federation meeting to be held

Action to Abandon School Project Is Rapped by C of C

At a meeting of the local chamber of commerce last night, led by its president, H. M. Shadle, the organization passed a resolution calling on the high school board to reconsider its action in discontinuing efforts to secure a new high school at this time. A discussion of the situation also brought out the suggestion that the board secure the services of civil works administration labor to clear the recently acquired 30-acre high school site.

Another resolution, addressed to the Santa Clara valley water conservation district trustees, asked the inclusion of a dam site in the $2,000,000 bond issue proposed for water conservation work in the valley. The resolution followed a request from Orchard City grange, which recently adopted a similar resolution.

William Finnemore reported a victory for the local water committee which has for three months fought to secure the rebuilding of the Page dam. Work will proceed within a week, he said.

A petition to include the Hedegard tract in the Campbell fire district is being held up by the refusal of one property owner to sign the roll, according to Secretary Dan Yeager, who reported progress last night.

A note of sympathy was dispatched by the chamber to S. N. Hedegard, member of the board of directors, whose brother, Mathias, passed away in San Jose yesterday.

Plans for the annual Old Settlers' day and Washington's birthday celebration were discussed, and invitations to participate were to be sent today to the various civic and social organizations of the district.

UNLIMITED QUINT SHOWS WELL AT SEASON OPENER

Campbell's 130-pound and unlimited basketball teams last Wednesday night played the first practice game of the season here with St. Joseph's, trimming the visitors in both events.

The light-weights won by the overwhelming score of 36 to 5, while the unlimiteds, displaying a classy brand of pre-season teamwork, trounced St. Jo. to the tune of 38-19.

There will be no game Friday night.

Injured At Play

Little Geraldine Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Lloyd, yesterday received a severe injury when accidentally struck in the forehead with a ball bat on the school play ground. Today, though sporting a "shiner," she is resting easily at the home of her parents. An X-ray will be taken within a few days.

Friday at Palo Alto.

At the next meeting, Dec. 18, members are requested to bring gifts for the Christmas baskets, and to please label the parcel as to contents so that proper distribution may be made without removing the wrappings. Gifts may include food, clothing or toys.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

The federal government, in its huge public works program, designed to relieve unemployment and re-vitalize American trade and industry, can well afford to give serious consideration to the needs of agriculture.

Advantages of this great re-employment program need not be temporary, if the national government will seize upon the opportunities which are afforded.

For instance, permanent benefits, of far-reaching importance to California farmers, could be achieved by the completion of land utilization surveys designed to point the way to more efficient and economical use of farm lands.

Millions of dollars can be saved for California farmers, if these studies are carried to completion, and serious future over-production problems can be avoided.

There is a golden opportunity, at the present period, to use some of this gigantic public works fund in removing some of the hazard—some of the gamble—from farming, whether it be in California, or Michigan.

Essentially, there are three steps in the land utilization surveys in California, as follows:

1. Completion of topographic surveys which are necessary as a basis for subsequent soil surveys.
2. Soil surveys, disclosing the types and characters of soil.
3. Crop surveys, based on the soil surveys, providing vital data on the types of soil which can be farmed profitably—and the crops which can be produced on each soil with reasonable hope of profit.

Expert soil survey men, and expert topographers, can be secured, under present conditions, at reasonable salaries, and this is a work which will pay dividends long after the depression has passed.

It is important—tremendously important, at the present moment—that California farmers should be acquainted with the types of soil which will produce certain crops economically and efficiently. It is essential that our farmers learn which sections can produce wheat, corn, rice, or other staple products, and which can produce citrus fruits, poultry or deciduous fruits—at a profit!

These facts, scientifically determined, and backed up by actual statements of yields and returns, can be ascertained, if the federal government will put able men to work on such surveys. They will be of untold benefit in guarding against over-production in the years to come; they will be of inestimable value in helping farmers to produce profit-making crops during the critical years just ahead.

The United States geological survey, which handles the topographic surveys, and the United States department of agriculture, which sponsors the soil surveys, should start this work at once. Certainly, these are men who should come under the great re-employment program initiated by President Roosevelt, for their employment will serve both temporary and future needs.

The time should come—and undoubtedly will come—when the college of agriculture will act as a clearing house for accurate and complete information on California soils and their adaptability to various products.

Already the college has made preliminary crop adaption studies, but this work will be halted unless topographic surveys are completed. There must be complete information on the number of acres of each type of soil in California, on the crops each soil can best produce, and on the crops which the farmer has a reasonable chance of producing with an opportunity to make a profit.

GEORGE'S COL-YUM

(POME)

In the silence of the night,
When the house is dark and cold,
A noise gives you a fright,
And you think of burglars bold;
Then your knees get might weak—
While your heart goes pitty-pat—
And you're too a'scared to speak
When, "Meow!"—It's just the cat!

Most of the fears and tragedies of life are due to our imaginations. The prophets of a hundred years ago said the world would soon out-grow its food supply, and starve to death; those of today say that we will starve in the midst of abundance . . . But the old world keeps rolling along, answering old questions and asking new ones . . . and most misfortunes that are predicted never happen, while prosperity—like the cat—always comes back.

WORK ON PAGE DAM WILL START WITHIN A WEEK

That the Santa Clara valley water conservation district will seek a grant of $720,000 from the federal works administration was revealed yesterday at a meeting of the district's board of directors. The request is supplementary to a previous request made in connection with an application for a loan of $2,000,000.

At this meeting an understanding was reached with George Page of Campbell whereby the water district acquires two acres of land on the Los Gatos creek for the purpose of constructing a dam. Engineers, accompanied by local conservationists, are today surveying the creek bed in order to locate the best site for the proposed structure.

Prof. S. H. Martin, formerly principal of Prescott, Ariz., schools, the speaker at Kiwanis luncheon yesterday, taking as his subject, "The Character We Want In Our Children, and the Means We Employ To Produce It." Today we should give primacy to the spiritual rather than the material things of life, the speaker asserted, voicing one of the main objectives of Kiwanis.

All development should be toward the betterment and enlargement of the higher life, always stressing the golden rule, or second great commandment, the speaker said.

The youth should be taught the right attitude of conduct in every walk of life, that it become the habit. Character-building should be the chief function of the public school. This institution is the factory to produce what we want, and by their fruits they shall be known, according to the professor. He stated that teachers, to be of the greatest benefit to their school, should live in the district where they teach.

Applications Must Be Made In San Jose for County Jobs

Local men seeking work under the federal employment relief program can no longer make application for jobs in Campbell, according to H. M. Shadle who, until this week, received applications for work. Hereafter it will be necessary to apply at the state free employment office at 324 North Market street in San Jose, according to George Campbell, director of the program in this district.

On Friday, Dec. 1, about 200 men from this community were at work on county jobs financed by the federal government. All of these men were selected from the list of workers which is maintained by the Campbell community council, most of whom are either heads of families or younger men contributing to the support of families.

Since then, others not on the council's list have made application through Mr. Shadle for county work. These names have been turned over to Supervisor Joe McKinnon for placement on the roll of those wanting county work. Work will be given out in the order the applications are received. The men receive $2.70 for a six-hour day.

This is count number two; that the conditions of the power market today and for at least ten years to come is conclusive proof that the investment of $170,000,000 or any part of that sum for the production of hydro electric power would be unsound and unjustified.

Fellowship Supper Marks Close of Fiscal Church Year

The Congregational church's fiscal year for 1933 closes tonight with the organization out of the "red." At a "friendship" supper at 6:30 this evening plans will be perfected to launch a drive for funds with which to carry on in the year 1934.

The canvass will be carried out by teams composed of men of the church, and will be in progress to and including next Wednesday of next week. The half-way mark will be observed Sunday, which has been designated "Canvass" Sunday at the church.

Pen Women Meet

Williams, among whom were Miss Phoebe Payne and Miss Lois Lloyd.

Fire Department Can't See Way Clear to Take Page St. Into District

At a meeting of the Campbell Volunteer Fire department Monday night the request of E. L. Green that Page street be taken into the fire district met with scant encouragement.

In an interview with Ed Ganesci, fire chief, the Press last night learned that the refusal was not based on a lack of desire to cooperate, but rather to the fact that there is on Page street no suitable water main to make fire fighting with present equipment practicable.

Mr. Ganesci said that the fire boys are reluctant to take in any territory that is not properly equipped with mains and hydrants. Sunny-side, Page, and Winchester road are not so equipped, and until more up to date equipment is secured, it would be useless to serve additional territory with fire protection, Mr. Ganesci said.
